

I am very concerned about this item. As most computers that we now use spew signals to nearby radio equipment, this new idea will only increase the noise problem. This will be the open door for non-compliance buy these carriers. My right to enjoy good radio reception will be violated by a business that will have no caring to anything except their revenues.